Brighthouse Life Insurance Company

The performance data quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Performance current to the most recent month-end may be viewed at www.BrighthouseFinancial.com. The account value is subject to market fluctuations and investment risk so that, when withdrawn, it may be worth more or less than its original value. For Sub-Accounts that invest in Portfolios of the underlying Trust that were in existence prior to the Sub-Account inception date, these returns have been adjusted to reflect the charges and expenses of the Registered Gold Track Variable Annuity, as if the contract had existed during the stated period(s), including all Portfolio-level expenses, and the Mortality and Expense Risk Charge of 1.30%. These results do not reflect the withdrawal charges which begin at 5% and decrease over 8 years (for returns reflecting these charges, see the Standardized report pages in this document that follows this Nonstandardized report). These figures represent past performance and are not an indication of future performance.

The investment objectives, risks and policies of the investment options, as well as other information about the investment options, are described in their respective prospectuses. Variable annuities are long-term investments designed for retirement purposes. Variable annuities have limitations, exclusions, charges, termination provisions and terms for keeping them in force. There is no guarantee that any of the variable investment options in this product will meet its stated goals or objectives. The account value is subject to market fluctuations and investment risk so that, when withdrawn, it may be worth more or less than its original value. All product guarantees, including optional benefits where applicable, are subject to the claims-paying ability and financial strength of the issuing insurance company. Please contact your financial professional for complete details.

Distributions of 401(k), 403(b) or 457(b) salary reduction contributions allocated to your annuity account, and the earnings on such contributions, are generally not permitted prior to attaining normal retirement age under your retirement plan except under certain situations, such as your severance from employment with the employer sponsoring the plan or your death, disability or hardship as provided under the plan. Distributions of contributions and earnings may also be restricted as defined in the plan documents. Contact your plan administrator to determine when and under what circumstances you may request a distribution from your plan. Where permitted, distributions of taxable amounts are generally subject to ordinary income tax and, if made before age 59½, may be subject to a 10% federal income tax penalty. Distributions of taxable amounts from a non-qualified annuity may also be subject to the 3.8% Unearned Income Medicare Contribution Tax on Net Investment Income if your modified adjusted gross income exceeds the applicable threshold amount. In the case of 457(b) governmental plans, the 10% federal income tax penalty may apply to amounts rolled over from another type of qualified retirement plan or IRA. Because the purchase of a variable annuity through an employer retirement plan does not provide additional tax-deferral benefits beyond those already provided through the retirement plan, you should consider the variable annuity for its death benefit, annuity options and other non-tax related benefits. Distributions will reduce the living and death benefits and account value and may be subject to withdrawal charges.

Because the purchase of a variable annuity through an employer retirement plan does not provide additional tax-deferral benefits beyond those already provided through the retirement plan, you should consider the variable annuity for its death benefit, annuity options and other non-tax related benefits. Distributions will reduce the living and death benefits and account value and may be subject to withdrawal charges.
