The average annual total returns on the previous page represent past performance and are not an indication of future performance. The investment experience and the cash surrender value of a policy will fluctuate so that, at the time of a withdrawal, the cash surrender value may be worth more or less than the amount of premiums paid. Current performance may be higher or lower than the performance information shown.

Prospectuses for the underlying investment funds are available from New England Life Insurance Company. The prospectuses contain information about the investment objectives, risks and policies of the underlying investment funds, as well as other information about the underlying funding choices. Please read the prospectuses and consider this information carefully before investing. Product availability and features may vary by state. All product guarantees are subject to the financial strength and claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company.

Policy values depend not only on the investment performance of the underlying funds, but also on insurance, sales, premium tax, and administrative charges, which are not reflected in these rates of return, but which significantly reduce the return to the policyholder. The total returns do reflect the fees and expenses of the underlying funds and the mortality and expense risk charge. We urge you to contact your financial professional to obtain a personalized illustration, which reflects the charges and expenses applicable to your policy.

The underlying funds, which generally have the same investment objectives, policies and portfolio managers as the retail funds for which they are named, are separate and distinct from the retail funds. Their performance may be dramatically different from the performance of the retail funds, due to differences in the funds' size, cash flow, expenses and the timing of purchases and sales of securities.
